

MANTRAVINE PRESS KIT

Mantra /'mænrə/ origin:Sanskrit

A living sound, a sequence of sacred utterances repeated in full presence with the intention to change an outcome.

Vine /vain/ origin:Latin

A climbing plant which grows on the bodies of trees and buildings, this way and that, facing the light and dark, seeking to reach the sky. It can be intoxicating to watch.

Welcome to planet Mantravine. Here we speak the language of rhythm. It beeps and snaps, twists and zings, bursts from our fingers and reaches out of our mouths in cosmic song. It shakes the ground with a gleaming brass-line and slices through the heart with carnatic guitar. The language cannot be described by mere human words, but swells explosively from our extraterrestrial bodies in a frequency frenzy. We are the sound scientists you will understand with your soul.

Mantravine is a trio of sonic alchemists mixing neo-shamanic rhythms with world music, live instruments and psychedelic dance grooves. They evoke a primal dancing spirit with ancient mantras, electrifying guitar, funky horns and organic frequencies.
